VISUAL

IDENTITY

PRIMARY LOGO

The primary logo seen on the left is inspired by record companies from the late 80s to 90s. Hip hop has shaped part of the brands identity with the aesthetics of fat letters and warping of the line you traditionally write. In a way a graffiti style. The green circle centering the words is essential to the logo as it grounds the font. It is a symbol for the core of the shop which is community. Originally created by circles inside of circles symbolizing the different aspects of community before being blurred showing that the lines of connection and community are blurred into one.

SECONDARY LOGO

Inspired from the same time and style of the primary logo. The secondary logo has more to it. This logo is more dynamic as the top is a "filter" going into a cup. Resonating with the brand's identity of good coffee while still staying true to the primary logo.

TYPEFACE

JOSIES COFFEE

Brand Typeface:

Acumin Variable Concept

ExtraCondensed UltraBlack

Secondary Typeface:

Helvetica

Both type faces should not be used at the same time in regards to marketing for the shop. Its one or the other. It is important that the letters if warped or stylized in any way do not touch and have an equal amount of spacing between each letter.

Brand Rationale

For this assignment I chose to create a coffee shop by the name of Josies Coffee. I always knew I wanted to play around with the name Jo or Josie as I have a family member by that name but also more importantly I wanted to be able to play around with the phrase “cup of Jo.” As in reference to a cup of coffee. Once I came up with the name I then had to decide what it was going to look like. I am very intentional in my design and that is why the designs are simple yet powerful and I feel my lack of multiple colors helps the brand stay true to what it is while still standing out.

I used inspiration from a lot of things in my life that I enjoy. For example the logo was inspired by hip hop and authenticity that comes with the genre of music. The logo was inspired by the image on the left. While my secondary logo stayed true to the primary while adding simple design elements such as lines to also show my love for a good pour over cup of coffee.

The brand as a whole is an amalgamation of things I enjoy and that have shaped who I am. I love community and the sense of belonging that some coffee shops bring to people. So for my coffee shop I did the same thing. In my brand values and identity this is why I clearly stated our focus was on community and good coffee. While it is not stated in the brand guide but it is an idea that the coffee shop would host different events through the week whether that be parties or art galleries even farmers markets and things of that nature. While it is a coffee shop I wanted this to also be a place where people could come and have fun and feel like they belong somewhere. The usage of a particular typeface is actually from my love of basketball. I used a very similar typeface to the Portland Trailblazer and while I am not a Trailblazers fan seeing that the coffee shops location was in Portland I thought it would be fitting. The secondary type face is Helvetica I used this type face as this is the typeface I use on a daily basis for all things. Its primary inspired by late Virgil Abloom who started his brand OFF WHITE using this typeface it is simple and versatile. My choice of color was very intentional, I love color and actually love the lack there of. While my primary colors are black and cosmic latte(which is the actual name and is said to be the color of the universe) I use pops of green as it is my favorite color. My colors may seem basic but I feel they are very intentional and underneath it all better represent me as a designer. Overall I feel the brand as a whole is very strong and I would be happy to come to this coffee shop.
